Cliques and Progress

Much of the future progress of a community depends upon the home life of the community.

If it is divided into business, social, religious and political cliques or groups, with hard and fast lines drawn and each pulling against the others, there is but little opportunity for real progress. The people cannot get together on a common plane of understanding and work. No one faction is willing to accept the leadership of another.

But when a community is comparatively free from paralyzing cliques and jealousies there is great opportunity for advancement. Everybody knows everybody else, each feels free to advance suggestions to others, and in turn is willing to receive them.

In this way the best points of every proposition are brought to the surface, and the logical leader to carry a work to completion is easily selected.

The closed mind is the heritage of a community divided against itself. It imbibes but few new thoughts, and those are centered around the particular cliques to which the mind belongs.

The open mind gathers in much food for new thought, and that thought is capable of expansion and development in many ways.

The open mind is the one for this town.

A Merchant Marine

For fifty years or more American capital has been engaged in building railroads, with which to haul our surplus of grain and other products to the sea ports. During that fifty years this surplus has been shipped to foreign countries in foreign ships and the transportation charges went into foreign pockets.

This was good business for the foreign shipping interests.

But now we propose to have a merchant marine ourselves some day and ship our goods abroad in our own ships, and keep the vast sums of money paid for transportation charges in American pockets.

Foreign countries don't like this, which is natural.

They object mightily to the creation of an American merchant marine, because it will cripple the earning capacity of their own ships. This is also but natural and to be expected.

But when they attempt to tell this country that we have no right to build a merchant marine, as some of them have done, they become presumptuous and must expect to hear a few words of homely truth.

What they don't like they can lump.

It is none of their business. We will do as we please.

The concrete achievements of the Washington armaments conference should be sufficient answer to those internationalists who have bemoaned what they chose to call the "isolation" of the United States.

The business of "viewing with alarm" is once more in season.

Pocahontas Coal

A FEW SUGGESTIONS ON HOW TO GET GOOD RESULTS WITH IT.

POCAHONTAS COAL burns more slowly in a furnace than most other coals. A few suggestions may help you get the best results in burning it.

1. The fire box should always be full. More heat is given off for the same amount of coal consumed.

2. In mild weather shake the ashes but little. A fire can be held down most successfully and with less coal consumed when there is a considerable amount of ashes under the fire. Even in the usual winter weather, it should not be necessary to shake the ashes more than several times a week. Good Pocahontas Coal practically all burns up, if given sufficient time.

3. After throwing in fresh coal, open the drafts and let the coal get well started to burning before closing them. Otherwise your fire may go out or explosions in the furnace occur. Fire the furnace at least an hour or two before retiring so that it can get a good start.

4. If you have a vent in the furnace door, open it at least part way. The combustion of the gases from the heated coal is better. These gases will then be burned and the heat value of them secured, when otherwise it might be lost.

If these simple rules are followed, you will find our Pocahontas Coal is a pleasure to burn, and an even and highly satisfactory heat assured.

CARTHAGE WHIPPED, 39-21

Miners Get Away to Good Start Friday Night and Keep Ahead—
Headlee Will Not Play Tonight

The last home game on the schedule for the Rushville high school basketball tossers will be played tonight, and the strongest opposition in recent games will be here when the Oolitic aggregation ends their three day trip to this county. They walloped the Carthage team Friday night in that place, 39 to 21, which indicates that they have a strong team.

The locals should be in the very best of condition for the game as they have had a rest all week. Those from Rushville who witnessed the game in Carthage last night stated that the visitors have a team which will be hard to beat. Although Milroy nosed them out one point on Thursday night, the visiting team could not get started on the small floor there.

In the game last night the down state crew got away fast and displayed wonderful team work and goal shooting. Their five-man offense worked smoothly.

Headlee will be out of the game tonight, and the locals will miss him, but with Stewart and Casady at forwards, Pugh at center and Phillips and Frazee guards, the combination will be a hard one for any team to get by.

Several weeks ago three counties were assigned here and at that time 15 teams had been entered, but the time for entering the tourney will not close until Monday, and the number of teams may be increased here.

The state officials will meet in Indianapolis next Saturday and complete the drawings for all sectionals, the regional and state finals, and the drawings for all sectionals, the regional and state finals, and the drawings will be published on Sunday, February 26.

Rushville will put forth a big effort to enter the sectional without a loss this year, and if they beat Oolitic tonight it will be the eighteenth straight, with Columbus set for the nineteenth win.

CHANGE OF LIFE

Help at This Period

Metropolis, Illinois.—"I have taken Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and it is all I claim to be and has benefited me wonderfully. I had been sick for eight months with a trouble which confined me to my bed and was only able to be up part of the time when I was advised by a friend, Mrs. Smith, to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and Liver Pills. I was so much benefited by the use of these medicines that I was able to be up and about in two weeks. I was at the Change of Life when I began taking the medicines and I passed over that time without any trouble. Now I am hale and hearty, do all my housework, washing, ironing, scrubbing, and cooking, all there is to do about a house, and can walk two or three miles without getting too tired. I know of several of my neighbors who have been helped by your medicines."

Mrs. EMMA CULVER, 705 E. 7th St., Metropolis, Illinois.

Depend upon Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. Nervousness, irritability, heat flashes, headache and dizziness, are relieved by this splendid medicine.

Four teams remained in the race for the sectional honors at Carthage today, where the amateur tourney was being held with teams entered from five counties, and the teams left for the final games were the Muncie Maroons, Muncie Durants, the Carthage Yankee Five and the team from Sulphur Springs.

The games opened Friday afternoon when six teams were seen in action, and this morning three more games were decided, reducing the number to four contestants.

Unless Carthage takes their game this afternoon, the final play tonight is expected to lie between the two Muncie teams. Larrimore of Indianapolis is the official in charge, with Van Hood as timer, and Russell Pueblo, score keeper.

The Carthage-New Palestine game this morning was one of the best, as at no time were the teams far apart in points, and the first half ended with Carthage at 9, and the visitors at 6.

Union City sent a telegram that three of their players were sick, and they could not come, which resulted in a forfeit game.

The fourth round began today on the varsity quadrangle at ten o'clock, the semi-finals are slated for three in the afternoon and the finals will follow the contest between the University of Cincinnati Bearcats and Marshall College of Huntington, West Virginia, tonight.
